Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Mr. D. Kable, of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."

Kodol Digests What You Eat and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure.

Rev. J. B. Bollman of Kansas City is in Lexington this week seeking to interest our people in the work of the society for the friendless—an organization which has for its principal aim the restoration of discharged convicts to places of usefulness in society. The particular organization which he represents is operating in most of the states west of the Mississippi river, and though it is only three years old, it has repeated the experience of similar societies in the east in reclaiming to usefulness many unfortunates who might have been driven into confirmed criminality. The work which this society undertakes to do is not sentimental but humanitarian, economic and recommended by sound business considerations.

Pride of The Missouri Press.

Six years ago the Press of Missouri in annual meeting assembled voted to establish a depository for Missouri literature to be known as Missouri State Historical Society Library and chose Columbia as its location because there it could be used by students of the State University. The subsequent growth of this library is a tribute of that vast body of men who make the public sentiment of our state. Through their efforts the library was recognized by the Fortieth General Assembly as one of the State's institutions and an appropriation made for its support.

But greater even than this is the work these founders have done in bringing together more rapidly than the Golden touch of a Carnegie a vast collection of Missouri literature. Today the library contains, besides a collection of Missouri books and newspapers the equal of any in the state, the most extensive list of Missouri official publications to be found anywhere on the American continent. The phenomenal growth of this library under the fostering care of the Press may pardonably be a source of pride to every Missouri editor.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Eagle Milling Co. Reorganized.

Higginsville Jeffersonian: The Eagle Milling Co., of this city has been reorganized and will be operated on an enlarged scale within a few days. The name of the company has been changed to the Eagle Milling & Elevator Co. F. H. Kueck, a grain man at Concordia, has been elected president and S. A. Mapes of this city is manager. Improvements upon the mill were commenced Monday and steam will be turned on in a few days. Last springs the mill was rebuilt and new machinery put in, but for some cause the plant was not kept in operation, probably for lack of funds. The new company has been well financed and the mill will in all probability prove a success.

ABSCESSES.

W. H. Harrison, Cleveland, Miss., writes, August 15, 1902: "I want to say a word of praise for Ballard's Snow Liniment. I stepped on a nail, which caused the cords of my leg to contract and an abscess to rise in my knee, and the doctor told me I would have a stiff leg, so one day I went to J. F. Lord's drug store (who is now in Denver, Colo.) He recommended a bottle of Snow Liniment; I got a 50c size, and it cured my leg. It is the best liniment in the world."

Abscesses, with few exceptions are indicative of constipation or debility. They may, however, result from blows or from foreign bodies introduced into the flesh or skin, such as splinters, thorns, etc. Sold by Crenshaw & Young. 9-3ml

Carnegie Money For Missouri History.

An initial expenditure of $300 of the Steel King's money has been authorized by the Carnegie Institute at Washington, D. C., for a work to be known as "The History and Status of the Economic and Social Relations of the Agricultural Industry in Missouri" which is to constitute a chapter in a book on the economic history of Missouri to be published by the Carnegie Institute. Material for the publication will be compiled by advanced students of the University of Missouri under the direction of Dr. Jesse E. Pope, professor of economics.

People Taxed for Steel Trust.

That by virtue of the protection afforded them by the Dingley Tariff Act, the Steel Trust has been able annually to exact from the American people a tax of one dollar and twenty-eight and a quarter cents per capita, is a fact made clear by Mr. John R. Dunlap, editor of the Engineering Magazine in a signed article in the New York Evening Post.

He showed that bar iron which sold in England for $30 was only purchasable in this country for $48.10 notwithstanding that the tariff was $13.44. Going through the scale on all the articles necessary to the manufacture of tin plate and showing a corresponding increase in cost of America over that in England, Mr. Dunlap observes: "In the light of this enormous profit upon every ton of material used in making the plate it is not difficult to see how a few men have made millions through the tin plate trust."

In his article Mr. Dunlap shows that the profits of the Steel Trust in the years 1902 and 1903, which he characterizes as banner years for railroads, were greatly in excess of the combined profits of the Pennsylvania, New York Central, and Baltimore and Ohio railroads. Commenting on this the writer says: "The obvious explanation of the fabulous profits is to be found in the needless Dingley duties."

Commenting on the Steel Trust exacting $28 per ton from domestic railroads while selling the same goods to foreign roads for $22 per ton, Mr. Dunlap quotes from a letter written by Charles M. Schwab at the time he was president of the Steel Trust, to Henry C. Frick, Chairman of the Carnegie Steel Company, in which Mr. Schwab says: "What is true of rails is exactly true of other steel products. You know we can make rails for less than $12 per ton, leaving a nice margin on foreign business."

Concluding his article Mr. Dunlap exclaims, "Verily, 'the tariff is the mother of trusts'—as Havemeyer boldly and bluntly confessed from the witness stand."

A Friend of the Republic.

Carl Schurz contributes an article to the October McClure's that has peculiar timeliness and significance. It is a sketch of "George William Curtis," well given the editorial subtitle of "Friend of the Republic." Mr. Schurz finds the life and work of his subject an aspiration to good citizenship and wholesome living, and he reads the lessons they impart clearly and sympathetically.

The larger part of Mr. Schurz's discussion concerns Mr. Curtis's semi-public record as an editor and a politician. Of him in this connection he says: "As he was the ideal party man and the ideal independent, so he might well have been called the finest type of the American gentleman."

Of the personality of the man, Mr. Schurz sums up his comment as follows: "His exquisite refinement of taste and manner has not the slightest tinge of affectation or superciliousness.... He was a distinguished man in the most distinguished society.... When we think of the men whom we would point out as models to our youth at home, of whom we would like to have looked upon as representative American gentlemen by the world abroad, George William Curtis will surely be selected as one of the first."

General Order.

In conformity to General Order No. 15, from Division Headquarters, the Brigadier General Commanding hereby calls attention to the Eighth Annual Reunion of the Missouri Division, United Confederate Veterans, which will be held at the Missouri State Building, on the grounds of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, at St. Louis, on Thursday, the 6th day of October, 1904, at 10 a. m.

To the end that we may have a good attendance, and a pleasant and profitable Reunion, Commanders and Adjutants of Camps are urged to give the widest publicity of the time and place of meeting. Get your local newspapers to give notice in a conspicuous manner, and as frequently as possible. Send out postal cards to your members advising them of the Reunion, and calling on them to meet and select delegates. The railroads will give extremely low rates, and good, comfortable quarters can be had in the vicinity of the World's Fair grounds at reasonable prices.

Comrades, as our ranks grow thinner and thinner, let us bind us one to the other, should grow stronger and stronger. Then, as you value this comradeship, and treasure the splendid work accomplished through our organization, let nothing prevent your attending the coming Reunion. Come to the Reunion and arrange to put in a few days at the greatest fair in the world's history. By order,

HARVEY W. SALMON, Brig. Gen. Commanding, Wm. F. CARTER, 9-24-12 Asst. Adjutant General.
